His short story collection Mars is for Millennials will be released April 2022.

Carmel Monfiletto has been a Dewey property owner since 1998. In 2015, Carmel relocated here from Kennett Square, PA and has been a full-time resident ever since. Carmel is employed by Beebe HealthCare in Lewes as a clinical dietitian providing medical nutrition therapy to patients with a variety of health issues. She also is self-employed as a nutrition coach and personal trainer. Her background includes teaching at the college level, building a successful private practice, public speaking, and the development and implementation of original corporate wellness programs. Carmel has always enjoyed living at the beach, having grown up in Belmar, NJ – close to Springsteen country – and being involved in school, church, and community events. Carmel attributes her success to relationship building, networking, and consistently thinking “outside the box.”
