

Alex Csedrik lives at 114A Swedes St. He got his Bachelor's degree in English from DeSales University, where he was awarded the 2008 Creative Writing Award. He received his Master's degree in English from Montclair State University and his Masters of Fine Arts in Creative Writing Fiction from Fairleigh Dickinson University. He's been a college professor for seven years at higher education institutions like Delaware Technical Community College. He's worked as a copywriter in marketing for more than six years for ad agencies, in-house teams, and as a freelancer. Currently, he's the copywriter for ManpowerGroup Talent Solutions RPO on the recruitment marketing team. He's also a stand-up comedian and a published author, and his short story collection Mars is for Millennials is available for purchase.